Park Facility Challenges

Doors, frames, and bathroom partitions at parks face a variety of challenges due to the outdoor environment in which they are located. Some of the challenges they may face include:

- 1. Weathering & Corrosion: Doors at parks are exposed to the elements, including rain, wind, humidity, and extreme temperatures, which can cause damage such as rust, corrosion, and warping.
- 2. Vandalism & Security: Unfortunately, park buildings can be targets for vandalism, including doors and bathroom partitions.
- 3. Durability: High traffic areas in park buildings wear and tear on doors, frames, and bathroom partitions, often impacting their use.
- 4. Temperature control: You must maintain temperatures inside your buildings regardless of the weather outside, and doors play a key role.
- 5. Maintenance: Parks require doors that are easy to maintain and repair to minimize disruptions to park operations. Doors need to be designed for easy maintenance and repair to minimize downtime.
